MBA CB
081
YUN
c.2

UNIVERSITY OF MACAU

FACULTY OF BUSINESS ADMINISTARTION

EARNINGS MANAGEMENT IN CHINA: THEORY AND EVIDENCES

Yun Zeng

M-A3-5754-2

Thesis presented to the

Faculty of Business Administration

University of Macau

In partial fulfillment for granting the MBA degree

(Finance)

2006

Table of content

Chapter 1: Introduction 5
1.1. Overview 5
1.2. Purpose of the study 6
1.3. Research methodology 10
1.4. Organization of the thesis 10
Chapter 2 Literature review 12
2.1 Definition of earnings management 12
2.2 Why does earnings management exist 20
2.2.1 Usability of accounting data 20
2.2.2 Information asymmetry: the feasibility of earnings management 21
2.2.3 The limitation of accounting principles 22
2.2.4 Interest driving: empirical examination 23
2.3 Specific accruals and techniques for earnings management 31
2.4 Chinese standards and market settings: earnings management studies in China 36
Chapter 3 Research Methodology and Data 47
3.1 Methodology literature 47
3.2 The questionnaire design 49
3.3 Sample selection and data collection 53
Chapter 4 Analysis and Results 59
4.1 The overall result of the questionnaires 59
4.2 Incentives: the influence of ownership and size 62
4.2.1: Ownership and incentive 62
4.2.2: Size and incentives 64
4.3 Incentives: Different techniques 67
Chapter 5 Conclusion and Limitations 71
5.1 Summary of the study 71
5.2 Discussion and conclusion 73
5.3 Limitations of the study 75
5.4: Implication for further research 76
Appendix 1: The questionnaire sample 78
Appendix 2: Accounting Standards for Business Enterprises 84
References 86