

UNIVERSITY OF MACAU

FACULTY OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Exploration of SPE Practice Situation and SPE Information Requirements of Individual Investors

--- Case in China

Mao Nini

M-A2-6157-6

Thesis presented to the

Faculty of Business Administration

University of Macau

In partial fulfillment for granting the MBA degree

(In Accounting)

2004

Contents

List of Table	iv
List of Figure	iv
List of Appendix	iv
Chapter 1 Introduction	1
1.1 Background	2
1.1.1 Background on SPEs Situation in China	2
1.1.2 Background on Relevant Accounting Standards in China	4
1.1.3 General Information of Individual Investors in China Market	5
1.2 Significance and Contribution	8
Chapter 2 Literature Review	10
2.1 Special Purpose Entities (SPE)	10
2.1.1 Definition, Activities and Significance of SPEs	10
2.1.2 Accounting Standards of SPEs	14
2.2 Accounting Standards System and Reform in China	16
2.3 SPE-Related Scandals in Public Companies in China	19
2.3.1 Falsify Net Income with “SPEs”	19
2.3.2 Transfer and Hiding Liabilities with “SPEs”	21
2.4 Factors Impacting Individual Investors Decisions	22
2.4.1 Life Cycle, Age and Investment Decision	22
2.4.2 Financial Status and Investment Decision	23
2.4.3 Risk Aversion and Investment Decision	24
2.4.4 Form of EMH and Investment Decision	25
Chapter 3 SPE Application Case in China	26
3.1 SPE Determinants	26
3.1.1 SPE Definition	27
3.1.2 SPE Activities	27
3.1.3 SPE Beneficiary	29
3.2 Shen Zhen Fountain Co. LTD.	31
3.2.1 History and Background of ShenZhen Fountain Co. LTD.	31
3.2.2 “SPEs” in Shen Zhen Fountain Co.LTD.	35
3.3 Overview of SPEs in Enron Corp.	40
3.3.1 Background Information on Enron Corp.	40
3.3.2 SPEs in Enron Corp.	41
3.4 Unique Features of SPEs in SZFC	43
3.4.1 Less SPEs Employed in SZFC	44
3.4.2 Fewer SPE Activities in SZFC	45

3.4.3 No Independent Third Party Exists in SPEs in SZFC	46
3.4.4 SPEs Employed in Special Circumstances	48
3.4.5 Direct Relationship Detected among SPEs	49
3.5 Rationales in Unique Features of SPEs in SZFC	51
3.5.1 Reformation of Traditional SOEs to Modern Companies	52
3.5.1.1 SOE reformation Creates Room for SPE Emergence	53
3.5.1.2 SOE Reformation Leads to Unique Features of SPEs	56
3.5.2 Accounting Regulation Constitution System	58
3.5.2.1 Flexibility Makes SPE Application Possible and Rewarded	58
3.5.2.2 Accounting System Facilitates SPEs Feature Formation	61
3.5.2.3 Mild Punishments on Violations Encourage SPE Practice	63
3.5.3 Refinancing Rules in Stock Markets	64
3.5.4 Limitations in Capital Markets and Financial Instruments in China	66
3.5.5 Substitutes of SPEs in China	67
3.5.6 Pressure from Local Governments	70
Chapter 4 SPE Information Requirements of Individual Investors in China	73
4.1 Test Objectives and Questions	73
4.1.2 Research Questions and Assumptions	74
4.1.3 Variables and Hypothesis	75
4.2 Research Methodology	78
4.2.1 Experiment Design	79
4.2.1.1 Experiment Treatments	79
4.2.1.2 Grouping Respondents	80
4.2.2 Experiment Implementation Procedure	81
4.2.3 Investment Financial Assets Selection	82
4.2.3.1 Corporate Stock Selection	83
4.2.3.2 Risk Free Security Rate	85
4.3 Data Collection and Analysis	85
4.3.1 Group Data Analysis	85
4.3.2 Experiment Treatments Analysis	88
4.3.2.1 Experiment Treatments Analysis	88
4.3.2.2 Investment Amount Data Analysis	88
4.3.3 SPE Information Requirement in Investment Decision-Making	91
4.3.3.1 Overview of Regression Model	92

4.3.3.2 Correlation Coefficients Analysis	93
4.3.3.2 Correlation among All Factors	94
4.4 SPE Information Requirements of Individual Investors in China	97
4.4.1 Using SPEs: Good news or Bad?	98
4.4.2 SPE Information VS. Investment Amount	99
4.4.3 Emphasis on SPEs Information	101
4.4.3.1 Emphasis on Liability Impact of SPEs	101
4.4.3.2 Emphasis on Equity Impact of SPEs	102
4.4.3.3 Emphasis on Net Income Impact of SPEs	103
4.4.3.4 Emphasis on Basic Information of SPEs	104
4.4.3.5 Essential Information of SPEs Disclosure	105
Chapter Five Discussions and Recommendations	107
5.1 Recommendations on Corporate Accounting Standards (CAS) in China	107
5.1.1 Constitute Rational SPE Definition in China	108
5.1.2 Institute Accounting Guidelines on SPE Practice	110
5.1.3 Flexibility in Accounting Regulations for Innovations	112
5.1.4 Nominate an Effective Supervisor on SPE Practice	113
5.1.5 Establish Practical Auditing Procedures on SPE Auditing	115
5.1.6 Establish More Rigorous Punishment System on Accounting Frauds	117
5.2 Optimize Relationship between Central and Local Governments	118
5.3 Separate Companies from Governments	122
5.4 Improve and Complete Capital Markets in China	124
5.4.1 Increase Financial Instruments in Capital Markets	124
5.4.2 Enhance Information Transparency	126
Chapter 6 Limitations and Research Expansion	128
6.1 Limitations in Methodology	128
6.2 Limitations in Assumptions and Experiment Design	129
6.3 Research Expansion	131
Reference	133