

澳門大學

University of Macau

Faculty of Education

Master of Education Thesis

A study of the relationship of family structure, students' social-economic status, and grade retention to the educational and occupational expectations of secondary school students in Macao

Student: Ho Tin Lai

Supervisor: Dr. Sze Tat Ming

April, 2008

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Abstract	i
Acknowledgments.....	ii
Table of contents	iii
Chapter 1: Introduction	1
• Research background	1
• Purpose of the study	4
• Significance of the study.....	5
• Statement of the problem	7
• Research questions	10
• Research hypotheses	11
• Conceptual model	12
• Limitation of the study.....	13
• Definition of the terms	13
• Chapter summary	14
Chapter 2: Literature Review.....	15
• Chapter overview	15
• The career development of adolescence	16
• The significance of the educational and occupational expectation of adolescents	22
• Family structure and the educational and occupational expectations of adolescents	23
• SES and the educational and occupational expectations of adolescents.....	26
• Grade retention and the educational and occupational expectations of adolescents	28
• Chapter summary	31
Chapter 3: Method	32
• Study design.....	32
• Data	32
• Population	34
• Sampling	35
• Participants.....	35
• Measures	36
• Data analysis	43
• Chapter summary	46

Chapter 4: Results 47

- Chapter overview 47
- Descriptive statistics 47
- Group difference 56
- Correlation analysis 56
- Regression analysis 57
- Chapter summary 60

Chapter 5: Discussion and suggestions..... 61

- Chapter overview 61
- Discussion 61
- Implications of the findings 74
- Conclusion 81

References..... 84