

Abstract

Base on the development of Macau Society and evolution of scientific technology. People change the demand of local medical service from quality, quantity and service field. We study for that local medical guarantee system can afford the huge change of society in supply suitable medical care to citizen. We try to study from the history of local medical guarantee system; current situation analysis; compare with Hong Kong, Taiwan and Singapore's medical guarantee system. Find out the new way for development of local medical guarantee system.

Chapter 1 is mention study background, significance, target and method.

Chapter 2 is study Macau medical guarantee system. Review the development of Macau medical guarantee system. It set up from some private medical clinics, Year 1984 the sanitation center network was developing and year 1986 a new law to regular the running method of medical service. The public medical guarantee system was set up with government hospital and the sanitation center network. We analyze the running method of private and public medical institution to understand local medical guarantee system. Then we try to study the characteristic of local medical guarantee system from government responsibility, protection range, medical service even and financial found. Final we ask some questions for the current medical guarantee system and the other people give some suggestions for revolution of medical guarantee system.

Chapter 3 is introduces the running method of medical guarantee system in Hong Kong, Taiwan and Singapore. We analyze the characteristic of different medical guarantee system from government responsibility, financial found, payment method, medical even, share condition. Then we follow the principle equity, efficiency and accommodation to compare the medical guarantee system of Macau, Hong Kong, Taiwan and Singapore. Final we summarize the advantage and fault of different medical guarantee system for reference.

Chapter 4 is questionnaire research for local private medical guarantee system and statistics analysis. We analyze local private medical guarantee system from the demand of medical guarantee, supply of medical guarantee and regulation of medical service. We compare the private medical guarantee system of Macau, Hong Kong, Taiwan and Singapore with employer's medical insurance preference, regulation of medical service.

Chapter 5 is discussion and strategy. After compare analysis of different medical guarantee system, we get a conclusion that Singapore medical guarantee system is benefit to Macau society. So that we suggest innovate local medical guarantee system with Singapore experience. The innovation target is increase financial found, let in marketing competition to increase economic benefit. The final target is improvement medical equity and efficiency.

Key words: Macau medical guarantee system medical insurance medical welfare