

UNIVERSITY OF MACAU

FACULTY OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

MANAGEMENT OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY
FOR COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGE

Thesis presented to the Faculty of Business Administration, University of Macau for the granting of MBA degree in Strategic Management.

Kuan Chan Hong

1996

06 MAR 1997

Table of Content

Abstract		i
Acknowledgments		ii
Chapter 1	Introduction	1
Chapter 2	Methodology	4
2.1	Research Methodology	4
2.2	Limitations of Study	4
Chapter 3	IT and Competitive Advantage	7
3.1	Information Revolution and Business	7
3.1.1	Changing Industry Structure	8
3.1.2	Creating Competitive Advantage	10
3.1.3	Spawning New Business	13
3.2	Five Forces	16
3.3	Value Chain	22
3.4	A View of Hong Kong Using Information Technology for Competitive Advantage	26
Chapter 4	Evaluation of IT Investment	30
4.1	The Need for IT Evaluation	30
4.2	Why does Effective Evaluation Matter?	32
4.3	Why is Evaluation so Difficult?	34
4.4	Current Practice	36
4.5	Frameworks for IT Evaluation	38

4.5.1	Kay's "Structure of Strategy" Framework	39
4.5.2	The Organizational Framework — Mintzberg's "Structure in Fives"	42
4.5.3	The Technology Framework — CICL	45
Chapter 5	Case Example: GiangMen Department Store, China	49
	Conclusion	53
Chapter 6	Summary & Conclusion	57
Appendix A		66
Appendix B		68
Appendix C		71
Bibliography		76