

Abstract

The theme of the thesis is to conduct a research on the grieving experiences that three teenagers have faced due to the death of parent. By telling the stories of loss would help us to better understand the thoughts of teenagers toward the loss of their beloved one. The participants of the research include three teenagers. The study method of the thesis is narrative research. The researcher utilizes Holistic-content approach to present the life theme of the teenagers who experience the loss of parent. .

Based on the inter-subjective agreement with the interviewees, the researcher interpreted the tremendous impacts and meanings undertaking in their everyday lives after losing their beloved parents. There are two essential themes developed in this study, the interviewees experienced (a) seek the pain on injury in the past again, (b) look for thread of thought of life. This study end with reflections, implications and suggestions for the social workers and future researchers. It is hoped that the study could help people with similar lived experiences. and the publics might devote more concerns to related issues in this filed.