

UNIVERSITY OF MACAU

FACULTY OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

A Study of the Effects of Technology, International Trade and Consumption on Individual Income and Income Discrepancy in China

Li Qiang, Peter
M-A5-5731-7

Supervisor: Dr. Li Guoqiang

Thesis presented to the

Faculty of Business Administration
University of Macau

In partial fulfillment for granting the MBA Degree

2008

CONTENTS

Chapter 1 Introduction.....	1
1.1 Objective of Research.....	3
1.2 Research Instruments.....	4
1.3 Major Findings.....	5
1.4 Contributions	5
1.5 Structure of Thesis	6
Chapter 2 Literature Review.....	9
2.1 Theories of Income	9
2.2 The Effect of Technology on Income	11
2.3 The Effect of International Trade on Income.....	13
2.4 The Effect of Consumption on Income.....	14
Chapter 3 Background Analysis	15
Chapter 4 The Model of Effect Analysis	18
4.1 The Input-output Analysis	18
4.2 Construction of the Model	19
4.3 Gini Coefficient	24
4.4 Data Processing	24
Chapter 5 An Empirical Study of Individual Income in China	33
5.1 Individual Income Characteristics in Seven Periods	34
5.2 Characteristics of Individual Income in Sixteen Sectors.....	39
5.3 Factors Effect on Individual Income Change	47
Chapter 6 An Empirical Study of Income Discrepancy in China.....	65
6.1 Period Characteristics of Income discrepancy.....	65
6.2 Factor Characteristics of Income discrepancy.....	69
Chapter 7 Conclusion	73
7.1 Income Changes.....	73
7.2 Income Discrepancy	74
7.3 Policy Recommendation.....	75
7.4 Further Development	76
Reference	78